Evening in Moonlight Meadow

Barnaby Bunny was in Moonlight Meadow. The sun was going down. A soft, cool breeze began to blow. Barnaby watched the tall grass dance. He wiggled his little pink nose. He felt a tiny bit restless inside. It was almost time for bed.

The Wind's Soft Song

The gentle wind whispered around him. Whoosh, whoosh, went the air. Barnaby liked the wind’s calm sound. He looked up at a big, soft fluffy cloud. It floated slowly across the sky. He watched it move far away. He felt a little more calm inside.

A Cozy Breathing Spot

Barnaby found a very cozy spot. It was under a big, old flower. The wind felt extra gentle there. He closed his round sleepy eyes. He took a big, deep breath in. Then he let a slow breath out. 'Like the soft wind,' he thought.

Floating Like a Leaf

He breathed in slowly again. He breathed out slowly. Whoosh, whoosh, in and out. His whole body felt calm and light. He imagined he was a little leaf. A leaf gently floating down. Floating down to his very soft bed.

Sweet Dreams Begin

Barnaby smiled a little sleepy smile. He felt very sleepy now. The gentle wind helped him relax. He hopped slowly back to his warm home. He was ready for sweet, happy dreams. Sweet dreams begin with a smile!
