

Toby Turtle's Flower Friend

Toby Turtle's Flower Friend

Little Stories. Big Lessons.

A Morning in Blossom Meadow

Toby Turtle loved Blossom Meadow. His teal-green shell shone in the morning sun. Many colourful flowers grew there. Red, yellow, and blue flowers smiled up at him. "Slow and steady discovers wonders!" Toby said softly. He loved to walk among them. He watched busy bees fly from flower to flower.

Toby Turtle's Flower Friend

Little Stories. Big Lessons.

A Thirsty Little Flower

As Toby walked, he saw a small purple flower. It looked a little droopy. Its petals were not bright and happy. "Oh, little flower," Toby thought. "You look thirsty." The ground around it was dry. Toby knew flowers need water to grow tall and strong.

Toby Turtle's Flower Friend

Little Stories. Big Lessons.

Toby's Clever Idea

Toby looked around with his gentle brown eyes. He saw a big, broad leaf on the ground. "I can use this!" he thought. He carefully picked up the leaf. He would carry water in it. The stream was not too far away. He knew he had to be very careful.

Toby Turtle's Flower Friend

Little Stories. Big Lessons.

Bringing Water Gently

Toby slowly carried the leaf full of water. His flippers moved steadily. He walked back to the little purple flower. "Here you go, friend," he said. He tilted the leaf gently. The cool water touched the dry soil around the flower. It drank the water slowly.

Toby Turtle's Flower Friend

Little Stories. Big Lessons.

A Happy Bloom

Soon, the little flower began to perk up! Its purple petals lifted. It looked bright and happy again. Toby smiled. He felt warm inside. Taking care of nature made Blossom Meadow beautiful for everyone. He knew his small help made a big difference.