A Spot in the Jungle

Max swung through the trees. He found a perfect spot. It had soft green grass and pretty flowers. "Time to set up my tent!" he said. He pulled out the colorful fabric. Then he saw the long tent poles.

A Tricky Tent

Max tried to push the poles together. "Hmm," he said. They did not want to connect. He tried again, pushing harder. Still, they would not click into place. Max felt a tiny bit stuck. He wanted to give up.

Trying Again

Then Max remembered his friend Maya. "Try again!" she always said. Max looked closely at the poles. He saw a little arrow on one end. "Ah!" he whispered. He lined up the arrows. Click! The poles fit perfectly.
